ОСНОВНАЯ ЧАСТЬ

МОДУЛЬ 1.

Present Simple

- 2) для обозначения фактов (Water freezes at 0°C);
- 3) для обозначения привычек (I drink coffee in the morning);
- 4) для обозначения действий, происходящих по расписанию (The train leaves at 5 o'clock);
- 5) для обозначения чувств, мыслей, идей (feel, like, love, hate, prefer, want, agree, believe, know, understand, mean, remember, think).

Утвердительные предложения образуются: глагол в инфинитиве без частицы to. Если существительное или местоимение употреблено в 3 лице, ед. ч. (he, she, it), то к глаголу прибавляется окончание –s/es.

К глаголам, которые оканчиваются на –s, –ss, –sh, –ch, –tch, –x и –z, прибавляется окончание –es (например, passes, pushes, watches). Окончание –es также прибавляется к глаголам, которые оканчиваются на гласную –o (например, goes). У глаголов, оканчивающихся на –y, перед которой стоит согласная, буква y меняется на –ies (например, study-studies, try-tries, fly-flies).

Но если перед –y стоит гласная, то к ней прибавляется просто окончание –s (например, play-plays, stay-stays).

Вопросительное предложение образуется с помощью вспомогательных глаголов do и does (для 3 лица, единственного числа). Основной глагол с существительным в 3 лице теряет окончание –s/es. Структура вопроса:

вспомогательный глагол do/does + подлежащие + сказуемое (глагол).

Отрицательная форма образуется с помощью вспомогательных глаголов do и does и частицы not. (don't / doesn't).

My father died when I was nine, and so my mother was a widow with four young children. She remarried five years later, so now I have a stepfather. As he is not my real father, I call him by his first name, which is Dieter. I've got an elder brother called Thomas and two younger sisters, Anya and Claudia, who are twins. We're a close family.

My mother is an only child, but I've got two uncles on my father's side. One is married with two children, and the other is married with three children, so altogether I have five cousins.

I get on well with Uncle Rolf, and he always tells me I'm his favourite nephew. Of his nieces, I think he likes Anya best.

Recently my brother Thomas got married. His wife's name is Sabine, so I now have a sister-in-law as well.

The royal family

Possibly the most popular member of the royal family, the Queen Mother (Queen Elizabeth's mother), was known for her good health, her energy, and the seriousness with which she took her responsibilities. She died in her sleep on March 30, 2002. She was 101. Although she turned 100 years old on August 4, 2000, she continued to carry out official duties.

The Queen Mother was descended from the Scottish royal family. In January 1923 she married an old childhood playmate, the Duke of York, son of King George V. They had two daughters, Elizabeth, the present queen, and Margaret, who died Feb. 9, 2002, at age 71.

In 1936 King George V died and his eldest son became King Edward VIII. However, when he abdicated later that year, the Duke and Duchess of York became King George VI and Queen Elizabeth.

Queen Elizabeth II was born on April 21, 1926, the first child of the Duke and Duchess of York. She and her younger sister, Margaret, were educated at home. Like the rest of her family, Princess Elizabeth was athletic, loved the outdoors, and became a skilled horseback rider. After her father became king in 1936, Princess Elizabeth immediately became second in line, what is known as 'the heir presumptive' and began studying constitutional history and law.

Assuming the throne in 1952 after her father died, she has been a tireless and popular monarch. The Queen, making some 350 official engagements each year, entertains nearly 50,000 people at Buckingham Palace, and serves as patron or president of 700 organizations.

She also travels extensively, taking a particular interest in former colonies, which are now members of the British Commonwealth. As Great Britain's head of state, the Queen has weekly audiences with the Prime Minister and other cabinet ministers. She receives copies of all cabinet papers, the records of all cabinet committee meetings, a daily summary of events in Parliament, and important Foreign Office telegrams. She is also official head of the Church of England.

In 1947, Elizabeth married Lieutenant Philip Mountbatten, now officially known as His Royal Highness The Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh. He was the son of Prince Andrew of Greece and a great-great-grandson of Queen Victoria. They have four children, Prince Charles, Princess Anne, Prince Andrew, and Prince Edward, as well as six grandchildren, Prince William, Prince Harry, Princess Eugenie, Princess Beatrice, Peter Phillips, and Zara Phillips.

Charles Philip Arthur George, the Prince of Wales and heir apparent to the throne, was born in Buckingham Palace on November 14, 1948. Prince Charles takes an active role in many organizations and attends official functions. He is also particularly interested in architecture and is an active sportsman.

Prince Charles married Lady Diana Spencer on July 29, 1981. The royal couple had two children, Prince William and Prince Henry (Harry).

The Prince and Princess of Wales separated in 1992 and divorced in 1996. There were sensational press reports about adultery on both sides. Charles' relationship with Camilla Parker Bowles became so unpopular that at one point Camilla was pelted with rolls by fellow shoppers at a supermarket.

Public sympathy for Diana reached a peak in 1997, when she died in a horrific car accident. Although Charles has worked hard to mend his image, there remains considerable support for the throne to pass directly from Queen Elizabeth to Charles' son, Prince William.

Charles, after earning high marks as a caring and dutiful father, has become more popular. Charles and Camilla finally got married on April 9, 2005, in a civil ceremony. She took the title of the Duchess of Cornwall instead of Princess of Wales in consideration of the public's regard for Diana.

Second in line to the throne behind his father, William was born on June 21, 1982. With outings to such places as amusement parks and McDonalds, Diana tried to show her children a bit of ordinary life. She also pleaded with the media to spare them from relentless press coverage. After graduating from Eton College, Windsor, William took a year off from school.

He had wanted to spend his year off playing polo in Argentina, but his father forbade it because he thought it was 'too decadent'. He instead spent some time on army maneuvers in Belize, working on community projects in southern Chile, and visiting Africa. In 2001 he began attending prestigious St. Andrews University in Scotland. Originally studying art history, he later switched to geography. As heir to the throne and the future head of the Church of England, William's schooling and general upbringing depend on approval by the Queen, Prince Philip, the Archbishop of Canterbury, and a subcommittee of royal advisers.

William entered the Royal Military Academy Sandhurst in January 2006, joining his younger brother Harry who then graduated in April 2006.

Known as Harry, Prince Henry Charles Albert David was born on September 15, 1984. Third in line to the throne, Prince Henry began attending Eton College, Windsor, along with this older brother, William. High-spirited Harry has been involved in several public incidents, including his wearing a Nazi uniform to a party.

Harry graduated from the Royal Military Academy Sandhurst in April 2006. Princess Anne was born on August 15, 1950. She is the second child and the only daughter of the Queen, Anne Elizabeth Alice Louise is an active royal. She is also known as the Princess Royal. She is president or patron of 222 organizations. In 1973 she married Lieutenant (later Captain) Mark Phillips of the Queen's Dragoon Guards. They had two children, Peter and Zara, who do not possess hereditary titles because their father did not have one. In 1992, Princess Anne and Mark Phillips were divorced. Later that year the Princess married Captain Timothy Laurence, now Rear Admiral, of the Royal Navy.

The third child of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip, Prince Andrew, Duke of York, is considered less of an intellectual and more of an athlete than Prince Charles. Born on February 19, 1960, he is also known as 'Randy Andy' for his reputation with women. Andrew currently serves in the Diplomacy Section of the Naval Staff at the Ministry of Defense. In 1986, Andrew married Sarah Ferguson. They had two daughters, Princesses Beatrice and Eugenie. In 1996 the couple divorced.

The youngest child and third son of the Queen and Duke of Edinburgh, Edward Antony Richard Louis was born March 10, 1964. After three years in the Royal Marines, Prince Edward left to become a theater producer, eventually forming his own television production company. Patron of a number of musical and theatrical organizations, Edward also performs official duties. Edward married Sophie RhysJones, a public relations executive, in 1999. Upon his marriage, Edward became the Earl of Wessex and Viscount Severn. They had a daughter, Louise, in November 2003.

The Queen's Working Day

Morning

The Queen scans the British newspapers each morning before reviewing her correspondence. On average she receives between 200 and 300 letters from the public each day. Her Majesty chooses a selection to read herself and tells members of her staff how she would like them to be answered.

The Queen then meets separately with two of her Private Secretaries and receives the daily quota of official papers and documents. These include policy papers, Cabinet documents, telegrams, letters and other State papers from government ministers and her representatives in the Commonwealth and foreign countries – these are sent up to her in the famous 'red boxes'. All of these papers have to be read and, where necessary, approved and signed.

A series of official meetings or 'Audiences' will often follow. The Queen will see a number of high-profile figures, including High Commissioners and Ambassadors, newly appointed British Ambassadors, senior members of the British and Commonwealth Armed Forces on their appointment and retirement, and English bishops and judges on their appointment. The Queen and her visitor meet alone, and the meeting usually lasts up to 20 minutes. The Queen may also meet a number of people who have won prizes or awards in a variety of fields, such as literature or science, to present them with their prize.

If there is an Investiture, the ceremony begins at 11.00am and lasts just over an hour.

The Queen usually invests around 120 people at each Investiture.

The Queen will often lunch privately. Every few months, she and The Duke of Edinburgh will invite a dozen guests from a wide variety of backgrounds to an informal lunch.

If The Queen is spending the morning on engagements away from her desk, she will visit up to three venues before lunch, either alone or with The Duke of Edinburgh.

Afternoon

In the afternoons, The Queen often goes out on public engagements. Royal engagements are carefully selected by The Queen from a large number of invitations sent to her each year, often by the Lord-Lieutenants (The Queen's representatives in counties throughout the United Kingdom).

The Queen carries out around 430 engagements (including Audiences) a year, to meet people, open events and buildings, unveil plaques and make speeches. Such engagements can include visits to schools, hospitals, factories, military units, art galleries, hostels for the homeless, local community schemes, and other British and Commonwealth organisations.

The Queen regularly goes out for the whole day to a particular region or city. The Duke of Edinburgh will often accompany The Queen on such visits. They will carry out some engagements jointly and others separately, to ensure that the maximum number of people and organisations can be visited.

The Queen may end the afternoon seeing a number of Government ministers in a meeting of the Privy Council.

Evening

The Queen has a weekly meeting alone with the Prime Minister, when they are both in London. This usually takes place on Wednesdays at 6.30 p.m. No written record is made of such meetings, and communications between The Queen and the Prime Minister always remain confidential. At about 7.30pm a report of the day's parliamentary proceedings, written by one of the Government's Whips, arrives. The Queen always reads this the same evening.

On some evenings, The Queen may attend a film première, a concert performance in aid of a charitable cause, or a reception linked to organizations of which she is Patron.

Her Majesty also hosts official receptions at Buckingham Palace, such as those for the Diplomatic Corps and The Queen's Award for Industry. Other receptions mark the work of particular groups in the community and a forthcoming visit overseas. In February 2010, before the South African State Visit, The Queen and The Duke of Edinburgh gave a reception at Buckingham Palace for notable South Africans living and working in the United Kingdom.

4. Need употребляется для выражения:

- а) долга или обязанности в вопросительных и отрицательных предложениях:

HOBBIES

Today people have more time for leisure activities than they did in the past, mainly due to shorter working hours. People also have higher incomes and more paid holidays, so they are now able to follow a wider range of interests and activities in their spare time. Hobbies differ like tastes. If you have chosen a hobby according to your character and taste you are lucky because your life becomes more interesting.

Hobbies are divided into four large classes: doing things, making things, collecting things and learning things.

The most popular of all hobby groups is doing things. It includes a wide variety of activities, everything from gardening to traveling and from chess to volleyball.

As a result, the leisure industry has become very commercialized and caters to a wide range of tastes. Mass entertainment, including spectator sports, television, music, computer games and the cinema, the travel industry and "do-it-yourself" industry are now very big businesses.

People also do much sport. They do it for many reasons. Most people are amateurs and do sport just for fun, for the exercise and to keep fit. There is some difference between sport in Britain and in other countries. For example, skiing is not very popular in Britain as there are not many mountains. They don't play much basketball and volleyball either, but many people play rugby. The British play many sports that are unknown in most other countries, for example: cricket, squash and netball.

Cricket is a typically British sport which foreigners have difficulty in understanding. There are two teams of eleven players. Matches last from one to five days. Many people think it is a slow and boring game, but it can be very exciting and rather dangerous. The ball often travels at a speed of 160kph!

Squash is another British invention. It is a form of tennis. There are two players and they use rackets similar to tennis rackets and a small, black rubber ball. They play indoors. It is a very fast and tiring sport!

Netball is similar to basketball. There are seven players (usually girls or women) in each team and the object of the game is the same as in basketball: to throw the ball through a net at the top of a three-metre post.

Among young people extreme sports become more wide spread . Parachuting and rock climbing have been popular with people looking for thrills and adventure. It is a chance to express their individuality, it is also an alternative to traditional sports.

Extreme or action sports include inline skating, skateboarding, surfing and many others. Unlike many other types of sport, there are often no official rules. But the main thing is not to take unnecessary risks!

A hobby is an activity that someone does for pleasure when they are not working. Moreover, a hobby is the person's interest and preference that reflects his inner world. Through hobbies people realize the need for development and creativity.

There are many interesting things that can be people's hobbies. Some people discover their talent in playing musical instruments, singing or painting. People fascinated by sports find it in football, tennis or ice-skating. Calm people like collecting things or making models.

As for me I have always been a very energetic person and have always had plenty of hobbies. I was interested in sports, especially volleyball and tennis. I collected stickers, toys and coins, had painting and language lessons, took part in a choir. Nevertheless, my deepest passion was always dancing. When I first came to the training I was so charmed by my coach and got so inspired that I started spending two hours three times a week there. I think it was the perfect hobby for my body and my soul. I have learned how to express myself through the body movements.

At the current moment, I suppose that my hobby is English. It's not only the process of learning the language for me. I like listening to English songs, watching videos and movies in original, visiting speaking clubs and communicating with native speakers. I admire the culture of English speaking countries and I'm interested in everything that is connected with it. I have lessons three times a week and I love my group and the teacher. She makes the process of studying so exciting.

So, I believe that the keyword in a hobby definition is "pleasure". My hobby brings me a lot of pleasure and satisfaction.

Great Britain

The official name of Great Britain is The United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland. Great Britain is an island country. It is situated on the British Isles in the northwest of Europe. The English Channel 18 miles wide separates it from France. Great Britain is separated from Belgium and Holland by the North Sea, and from Ireland by the Irish Sea.

The United Kingdom of Great Britain consists of four parts: England, Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland. England, Wales and Scotland occupy the territory of Great Britain, and Northern Ireland is situated in the northern part of Ireland. Great Britain is the largest island in Europe. The territory of the United Kingdom is about 244 000 (two hundred and forty-four thousand) square kilometres. The population is more than 65 million. People live mostly in towns and cities and their suburbs. Four out of every five people live in towns. Over 53 million people live in England. Over 3 million in Wales. A little over 5 million in Scotland. About 1.8 million in Northern Ireland. London's population is over 7 million people. The British nation consists of the English, the Scots, the Welsh and the Irish. The capital is London.

The surface of the United Kingdom varies greatly. The northern and the western parts of the country are mountainous and are called the Highlands. All the rest is a vast plain that is called the Lowlands. The mountains are not very high. The rivers are not very long. The most important of them are the Severn and the Thames. There are many beautiful lakes in the mountainous part of the country.

No part of England lies more than one hundred miles from the sea. The coast line has a number of fine bays and excellent natural harbors. World famous ports include London, Liverpool, Bristol, Plymouth ['plɪməθ], Southampton [sau'θæmptən], Portsmouth, Dover and others.

The climate of Great Britain is mild the whole year round. The mountains, the Atlantic Ocean and the warm waters of the Gulf Stream influence the climate of Great Britain. Winters are not cold and summers are not hot. It often rains in England. Rain falls in summer and in winter, in autumn and in spring. Snow falls only in the north and west of the country. October is usually the wettest month, July – the hottest, and January – the coldest.

British economy

For centuries Great Britain has been famous for its cattle and sheep and still remains a leading country in wool production. A small per cent of the population (about 2%) is engaged in farming. The chief crops are wheat, barley, rye, oats, corn, hay, potatoes, vegetables, and fruits. Among other important farming products are cattle, meat and dairy products.

The shallow waters surrounding the island are also important for the country's economy – they provide excellent fishing grounds and large quantities of fish are caught every year.

Great Britain is an old naval and highly developed industrial power. It is rich in mineral resources. The most important are coal and iron. Next to coal and iron the chief minerals found on the British Isles are the building stone, marble, granite, slate, lead, tin, copper, zinc, salt and china clay (i.e. clay suitable for manufacturing china). Having found rich deposits of iron and ore in the same regions, Britain was able to create a powerful heavy industry earlier than any other country in the world.

Britain is famous for its steel manufacture, tool industry, heavy and light engineering. It supplies many countries with certain classes of machinery, iron and steel goods. But the textile industry proved to be one of the most extensive industries in England; large quantities of cotton and woollen goods and artificial silk are produced and exported.

Political system of Great Britain

The United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland is a parliamentary monarchy. The king or the queen is the head of the state. The monarch is expected to be politically neutral and should not make political decisions. In practice the state is ruled by the elected government with the Prime Minister at the head. Since the VIII century the power of the English monarch has been limited by Parliament.

The present sovereign is Queen Elizabeth II. She was crowned in Westminster Abbey in 1953.

Parliament is the legislative power.

The British Parliament consists of two houses: the House of Commons having 630 members and the House of Lords with approximately 800 peers.

The members of the House of Commons are elected by people every 5 years. The Chairman of the House of Commons is the speaker.

The members of the House of Lords are not elected. They inherit this right from their fathers. The Chairman of this house is called Lord Chancellor. He sits on a Woolsack symbolising the prosperity of the country achieved thanks to wool industry.

The main function of the parliament is lawmaking.

Each bill is introduced to the House of Commons first and has three readings. After the third reading it is taken to the House of Lords. On their approval the Queen signs it, thus it becomes the law of the country.

The executive power is in the hands of the Cabinet which consists of the most important ministers with the prime minister at the head.

It is chosen from the members of the leading party, called the Government party (it has the greater number of seats in the House of Commons). Other parties represent the opposition. There are three main political parties: the Labour party, the Conservative party and the Liberal party.

legislative power – законодательная власть

to inherit – наследовать

to introduce – представлять

on their approval – после одобрения

executive power – исполнительная власть

county – графство

Lord Chancellor – Лорд-Канцлер

British Literature made great contribution to the world culture. Great Britain gave us such poets and writers as William Shakespeare, Walter Scott, Charles Dickens, and others.

William Shakespeare

William Shakespeare, the greatest and most famous of English writers, and probably the greatest playwright, was born in Stratford-on-Avon on April 23, 1564. Little is known about his childhood, but we know that he was educated at the local Grammar School.

At the age of eighteen he married Anne Hathaway of Shottery and lived in Stratford-on-Avon until he was about twenty-one. Then he went to London. We do not know why he left Stratford-on-Avon. There is a story that Shakespeare's first job in London was holding rich men's horses at the theatre door. But nobody can be sure that this story is true. Later, Shakespeare became an actor and a member of one of the chief acting companies. Soon he began to write plays for this company and in a few years became a well-known author. Many of his plays were staged at a London theatre called The Globe. The theatres of those days were a lot different. No scenery was used; there were no actresses at that time either. All women's parts were played by boys or men dressed in women's clothes.

Shakespeare's experience as an actor helped him greatly in the writing of his plays. Shakespeare wrote 37 plays. Among them there are deep tragedies, such as Hamlet, King Lear, Othello, Macbeth, light comedies, such as All's Well That Ends Well, Twelfth Night, historical dramas, such as Henry IV, Richard III.

Most of Shakespeare's plays were not published during his life. So some of them may have been lost in the fire when the Globe burned down in 1613.

Shakespeare spent the last years of his life at Stratford, where he died in 1616. He was buried in the church of Stratford-on-Avon. In London there is a monument to the memory of the great playwright in the Poets Corner in Westminster Abbey. Shakespeare's plays, translated into many languages are still performed on the stages of the best theatres of the world.

Walter Scott

He is known as a great master of the historical novel. His novels give a full picture of the history of England and Scotland. His famous works are: Bob Roy, Ivanhoe, Kenilworth, and many others.

Charles Dickens

He is one of the best English writers of the 19th century. Dickens was 19 years old when he became a reporter. While he was working for his newspaper he began writing sketches of the characters he had observed; and in 1836 they were collected in a book Sketches by Boz.

In 1836 The Pickwick Papers was published and brought him fame. Among his other famous works are Oliver Twist, David Copperfield, and others.

William Somerset Maugham

He has written a large number of novels, plays, and short stories. He has a natural gift for telling very interesting stories, which are all written in a simple natural style that has made his works so popular. With the novel The Moon and Sixpence his reputation as a novelist was established.

William Somerset Maugham is certainly one of the most talented writers. His language is so simple but at the same time so rich!

It is impossible to tell in detail about all British writers who gave the world wonderful masterpieces.

2. What education did Shakespeare get?
3. Where were many of his plays staged?

J. K. Rowling

J. K. Rowling is a pen name. The author's real name is Joanne Rowling. She was born on 31st July 1965 in a town called Yate in Gloucestershire, England. J. K. Rowling went to St Michael's Primary School in Winterbourne. The school was founded by William Wilberforce. The character of Albus Dumbledore (the headmaster of Hogwarts) was partly inspired by Alfred Dunn, the headmaster of St Michael's. Two of the children she played with in her childhood were called Potter.

J. K. Rowling started to write stories when she was a young girl. She wrote her first book when she was six years old and it was called Rabbit. J.K. Rowling didn't really enjoy her teenage years. She had a difficult relationship with her father, and her mother was often unwell. Her best friend when she was a teenager was Sean Harris. The character Ron Weasley from the Harry Potter books is partly inspired by Sean.

J. K. Rowling was Head Girl of Wydean School and College, and she got A Levels in English, French and German. She went on to study French and Classics at the University of Exeter. She read the works of Charles Dickens and J.R.R. Tolkien when she was a student. She graduated in 1986 and became a researcher in London for Amnesty International.

In 1990, on a crowded train travelling from Manchester (where she was living at the time) to London, J. K. Rowling got the idea that would become the Harry Potter series. She didn't have a pen to write any of the ideas down, so she forced herself to remember the details. She began to write the story the moment she got home.

J. K. Rowling's mother died in December 1990. She was still writing the first Harry Potter book at the time. J. K. Rowling moved to Porto in Portugal. She taught at night-school and wrote during the day. She married Jorge Arantes, a Portuguese journalist, in 1992, and they had a child together (called Jessica) in 1993. The couple broke up in December 1993, and J. K. Rowling and her daughter moved to Edinburgh in Scotland to be near to her sister.

J. K. Rowling was very poor after returning to Britain. She signed up for welfare benefits and focused on finishing the first Harry Potter novel, the only work that meant something to her. Harry Potter and the Philosopher's Stone was completed in 1995. Represented by Christopher Little Literary Agents, J. K. Rowling tried to find a publisher. It was rejected by twelve publishers, before Bloomsbury agreed to put the book out. Bloomsbury printed 1000 copies of the Philosopher's Stone in June 1997. These copies were mainly sent to libraries and they are now worth more than £20,000. Harry Potter and the Philosopher's Stone won the Nestle Smarties Book Prize and the British Book Award for Children's Book of the Year.

J. K. Rowling was able to buy her own house with the money she earned from the first Harry Potter book. She moved into 19 Hazelbank Terrace in Edinburgh and started to write the next Harry Potter book. Harry Potter and the Chamber of Secrets was published in 1998, and this was followed by Harry Potter and the Prisoner of Azkaban (1999), Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire (2000), Harry Potter and the Order of the Phoenix (2003), Harry Potter and the Half-Blood Prince (2005) and finally, Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows (2007). Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows sold 11 million copies on the first day of its release.

The entire Harry Potter series is 4195 pages long, and the Harry Potter brand is worth more than $15 billion. All seven Harry Potter books have been made into movies.

Now J.K. Rowling lives in Edinburgh with her husband and three children.

Famous English scientists

George Stephenson

George Stephenson was a British inventor and engineer. He is famous for building the first practical railway locomotive.

Stephenson was born in 1781 in England. During his youth he worked as an engineer in the coal mines of Newcastle. He invented one of the first miner's safety lamps independently of the British inventor Humphrey Davy. Stephenson's early locomotives were used to carry loads in coal mines, and in 1823 he established a factory at Newcastle for their manufacture. In 1829 he designed a locomotive known as the Rocket, which could carry both loads and passengers at a greater speed than any locomotive constructed at that time. The success of the Rocket was the beginning of the construction of locomotives and the laying of railway lines.

James Prescott Joule [dʒuːl]

James Prescott Joule, famous British physicist, was born in 1818, in England. Joule was one of the most outstanding physicists of his time. He is best known for his research in electricity. In the course of his research of the heat emitted in an electrical circuit, he formulated the law, now known as Joule's law of electric heating. This law states that the amount of heat produced each second in a conductor by electric current is proportional to the resistance of the conductor and to the square of the current. Joule experimentally verified the law of conservation of energy in his study of the conversion of mechanical energy into heat energy.

Joule determined the numerical relation between heat and mechanical energy, or the mechanical equivalent of heat, using many independent methods. The unit of energy, called the joule, is named after him. It is equal to 1 watt/second. Together with the physicist William Thomson (Baron Kelvin), Joule found that the temperature of a gas falls when it expands without doing any work. This phenomenon, which became known as the Joule-Thomson effect, lies in the operation of modern refrigeration and air-conditioning systems.

Questions:

- 1. What is George Stephenson famous for?
- 2. What did George Stephenson invent?
- 3. In what field did Joule make his research?

4. What law did Joule formulate?
5. What is Joule-Thomson effect? Where is it used?

Stephen Hawking
(January 8, 1942 to March 14, 2018)

Stephen Hawking, a theoretical physicist, was born on January 8, 1942, in Oxford, England, exactly 300 years after the death of Galileo. From the time he was a young boy, Hawking describes having a deep curiosity and passion for understanding how things work, from everyday toys to the whole universe.

He grew up in a highly educated family. Both of his parents had attended Oxford University and his father, Frank, was a medical researcher. Stephen enjoyed math and science in school where he earned the nickname "Einstein". Hawking went to Oxford University in England in 1959 where he struggled with both his studies and his health. He was younger than many other students, and found the academic work "extremely easy". Hawking experienced increased clumsiness including a serious fall down a flight of stairs. His speech became slurred and medical tests showed the development of ALS (amyotrophic sclerosis, also called motor neuron disease or Lou Gehrig's disease). He was given a life expectancy of two years. Hawking became very depressed, wrapped in a feeling of hopelessness; as time went by, however, the disease slowed down. He graduated and left for Cambridge to work on his PhD. Hawking has stated that his engagement to Jane Wilde, who he met shortly before his diagnosis, "gave him something to live for" and he returned to his work with enthusiasm. Despite the initial grim diagnosis from his doctors, Hawking has lived a full and productive life with the help of science and modern medicine. Although he is confined to a wheelchair and cannot talk, he can communicate using a touch pad computer and a voice synthesizer.

Hawking and Jane Wilde were married in July 1965 and Hawking finished his PhD shortly thereafter. During the late 1960s, Hawking's physical abilities declined once again.

In 1974, Hawking was invited to teach at the California Institute of Technology.

In 1995 he divorced with his wife, and announced his engagement to Elaine Mason and married again. They were together for 11 years and divorced in 2006. Following this divorce, Hawking resumed a closer relationship with Jane, his children, and grandchildren.

His fame has brought him unusual privileges and opportunities. In 2013 Hawking stated, "We are all different, but we share the same human spirit. Perhaps it's human nature that we adapt, and survive."

Stephen spent much of his academic work researching black holes and space-time theories. He wrote many important papers on the subject and became a noted expert on relativity and black holes. Perhaps his most famous discovery was when he demonstrated that black holes emit some radiation. Prior to this it was thought that black holes could not get smaller because nothing could escape their enormous gravity. The radiation from black holes has become known as Hawking Radiation.

In 1988 Hawking catapulted to international prominence with the publication of A Brief History of Time. The short, informative book became an account of cosmology for the masses and offered an overview of space and time, the existence of God and the future. The work was an instant success, spending more than four years atop the London Sunday Times' best-seller list. Since its publication, it has sold millions of copies worldwide and been translated into more than 40 languages.

In 2005, Hawking authored the even more accessible A Briefer History of Time, which further simplified the original work's core concepts and touched upon the newest developments in the field like string theory.

He also wrote such books as On the Shoulders of Giants, and The Universe in a Nutshell.

Stephen Hawking was Director of Research at the Centre for Theoretical Cosmology at Cambridge University. He was a highly successful lecturer and author. Using the equalizer, he was capable of speaking just 15 letters per minute.

Since 2009 he had been completely paralyzed but he was still a living legend.

Времена группы Perfect употребляются для выражения:

Утвердительные предложения образуются с помощью вспомогательного глагола have (I, you, we, they) / has (he/she/it) и формы причастия прошедшего времени (Past Participle), т.е. III формы смыслового глагола.

London is divided into several parts: the City, Westminster, the West End, and the East End.

The heart of London is the City, its financial and business centre. Numerous banks, offices, and firms are situated there, including the Bank of England, the Stock Exchange, and the Old Bailey. Few people live here, but over a million people come to the City to work. There are some famous ancient buildings within the City. Perhaps the most striking of them is the St. Paul's Cathedral, the greatest of English churches. It was built in the 17th century by Sir Christopher Wren. The Tower of London was founded by Julius Caesar and in 1066 rebuilt by William the Conqueror. It was used as a fortress, a royal palace, and a prison. Now it is a museum.

Westminster is the governmental part of London.

Nearly all English kings and queens have been crowned in Westminster Abbey. Many outstanding statesmen, scientists, writers, poets, and painters are buried here: Newton, Darwin, Chaucer, Dickens, Tennyson, Kipling, etc.

Across the road from Westminster Abbey is Westminster Palace, the seat of the British Parliament. The Clock Tower of the Houses of Parliament is famous for its big bell, known as "Big Ben". Buckingham Palace is the official residence of the Queen.

The West End is the richest and most beautiful part of London. It is the symbol of wealth and luxury. The best hotels, shops, restaurants, clubs, and theatres are situated there.

The Trafalgar Square is the geographical centre of London. It was named in memory of Admiral Nelson's victory in the battle of Trafalgar in 1805. The tall Nelson's Column stands in the middle of the square.

On the north side of the Trafalgar Square is the National Portrait Gallery. Not far away is the British Museum — the biggest museum in London. It contains a priceless collection of ancient manuscripts, coins, sculptures, etc, and is also famous for its library.

There are a lot of factories, workshops, and docks in the East End.

London

It was a fine afternoon, and this was the last week in September. Rose turned into the Strand and walked slowly toward Trafalgar Square, where the crimson buses went roaring round and round the immense column. After waiting for a break in the traffic, she slipped across and made for Whitehall. A lot of importance, in weathered grey stone, all down there. Prime ministers and all that. Rose did not care about them much. Politics were still to her something men argued about. She recognized the Cenotaph and looked with interest at the fading flowers and wreaths massed round the base.

She wandered on. There was the river, very broad, an oily look about it. Houses of Parliament. Big Ben. Westminster Abbey. Quite empty little streets and places round there. She sauntered through a tangle of little streets and finally found herself in a park, quite a small park, with all its seats filled with authentic Londoners, mostly old and looking rather hopeless. But the grass and the trees and water were nice. And the buildings of Whitehall, which she had just seen, suddenly appeared in the smoky-gold distance like white fairy palaces. She came to some broad roads where cars were hurrying along, negotiated the crossings carefully, and landed herself in another park. This was not so interesting. There was no water, and not so many nice old trees. People were lying about on the grass. They made her feel tired. Yes, she was tired. That was one thing about London: it made you feel tired in no time. At the top of this park was an important, crowded, gear-grinding street. Piccadilly - fancy! And there, almost at once, as if by magic, she found a familiar bus, Number 19, which would take her quite close to Pitt Square.

Once inside the bus, she did not notice very much. She felt very small and weary. She sat there and saw without real attention the bright jumbling of shop windows, doorways, other bus windows, posters, and people, people, people.

Washington is the capital of the United States of America. It is situated in the District of Columbia and is like no other city of the USA. It's the world's largest one-industry city. And that industry is government. The White House, where the US President lives and works, the Capitol, the home of the US Congress, and the Supreme Court, are all in Washington.

Washington was named after the first US President George Washington. He selected the place for the capital and Pierre L'Enfant, a French engineer, designed the city. Washington was settled in 1790 and since 1800 it has been the Federal capital. Washington is one of the most beautiful and unusual cities in the United States. In the very centre of it rises the huge dome of the Capitol — a big white dome standing on a circle of pillars. The 535 members of the Congress meet here to discuss the nation's affairs. It's easy to get lost in this huge building, full of paintings and statues.

Not far from the Capitol is the Library of Congress, the largest library in the States. It contains more than 13 million books and more than 19 million manuscripts, including the personal papers of the US Presidents.

The White House is the official residence of the US President. He works in the Oval Office.

One can hardly find a park, a square or an open area in Washington without a monument or a memorial. The most impressive and the best-known ones are the Lincoln Memorial and the Washington Monument.

There are some important museums in Washington where you can see all kinds of things: famous paintings and sculptures, the dresses of Presidents' wives, the original of the Declaration of Independence, the largest blue diamond in the world, etc. There are 5 universities in Washington.

There are no skyscrapers in Washington, because they would hide the city's many monuments from view. No building in the city may be more than 40 metres tall.

New York

New York City is a city in the southern end of the state of New York, and is the most populous city in the United States of America. It was founded by the Dutch colonists in the 17th century and got the name of New Amsterdam. Later the city came under English control and was renamed after the Duke of York. New York served as the capital of the United States from 1785 until 1790.

New York City is a global economic center, with its business, finance, trading, law, and media organizations influential worldwide. The city is also an important cultural center, with many museums, galleries, and performance venues. Home of the United Nations, the city is a hub for international diplomacy. With over 8.2 million residents within an area of 322 square miles (830 km²), New York City has the highest population density of major cities in the United States. The New York metropolitan area, with a population of 18.8 million, ranks among the largest urban areas in the world.

New York City is comprised of five districts, an unusual form of government used to administer the five constituent counties that make up the city. They are Manhattan, Brooklyn, Queens, Bronx, Staten Island.

The center of NY is Manhattan Island. Here you can see numerous skyscrapers which house banks and offices of American business: the Empire State Building, Rockefeller Center, The United Nations Building, Central Park, Times Square, Broadway.

Wall Street is the major financial center of the U. S. and symbolizes the money market and financiers of the U.S. Wall Street was called so because of a wall which extended along the street in Dutch times. It was built about 1650 from river to river (the Hudson and the East River) to protect the small colony living south of this street from attacks by Indians. Later the wall was removed, but the name remained.

The Brooklyn Bridge is one of the oldest suspension bridges in the United States, stretches 1825 m over the East River connecting the Manhattan and Brooklyn. On completion, it was the largest suspension bridge in the world and the first steel-wire suspension bridge. The bridge cost $15.1 million to build and approximately 27 people died during its construction. A week after the opening, on May 30 1883 a rumor that the Bridge was going to break down caused a stampede which crushed and then killed twelve people.

Times Square is at the junction of Broadway and Seventh Avenue. Times Square consists of the blocks between Sixth and Eighth Avenues from east to west, and West 40th and West 53rd Streets from south to north, making up the western part of the commercial area of Midtown Manhattan. Smaller than Red Square in Moscow or Trafalgar Square in London, Times Square, however, has achieved the status of an iconic world landmark and has become a symbol of its home city. Times Square is usually defined by its animated, digital advertisements.

The Empire State Building rises to 381 m at the 102nd floor, and its full structural height (including broadcast antenna) reaches 443 m. The building has 85 stories of commercial and office space and an indoor and outdoor observation deck on the 86th floor. The remaining 16 stories represent the spire, which is capped by a 102nd floor observatory, and atop the spire is an antenna topped off with a lightning rod. The Empire State Building is the first building to have more than 100 floors. It has 6,500 windows, 73 elevators and there are 1,860 steps from street level to the 102nd floor. It has a total floor area of approximately 254,000 m².

Bright lights, thousands of people all rushing to be somewhere, skyscrapers, the smell of coffee and hotdogs and taxi fumes. New York. If you've ever been there, you can pinpoint the exact smell, the people constantly going and never stopping. That's what I like about it; the way everyone around you is going 100 miles a minute and they don't stop.

You always hear people talk about how they don't understand why anyone would want to live there. I love New York; in fact, I want to live in New York. I love all the noise and all the people. It's the perfect place to start over. Nobody cares about your past there, nobody even knows your name. You could recreate yourself if you wanted to.

I was 13 when I first went to New York; I went with my best friend Emma. Emma and I are one in the same, but you'd never figure that if you saw us together.

We arrived in New York at about 10 p.m., and we decided to go ahead and get some sightseeing out of the way. Bad idea. We settled on the Empire State Building, but the 86th floor was even windier and even colder than we had expected. The chill of the air was nipping at our noses. 1,000 pictures later, and we had finally decided that we should grab a bite to eat and turn in for the night.

I woke up that next morning and the first thing I smelled was coffee. This is the one thing Emma and I have in common; the love of coffee. Needless to say, Starbucks was the first place we stopped, after departing from the hotel. I ordered a Caramel Latte, and Emma ordered the same.

The day was filled with shopping bags, the Statue of Liberty, pizza, shopping bags, and taxis. Emma and I probably wound up at each store twice, and the Starbucks about four times. The ride through Central Park in a horse-led carriage was the best, though. We ate Italian for dinner that night, and we split a cannoli.

After dinner, we returned to our hotel for a movie and showers. The hotel wasn't nasty, but it wasn't five-star either. Emma took first shower and I laid out my outfit for the next day. It was supposed to rain most of the day. After we both had taken a shower, we set up the movie.

The weather man was right, the rain was pouring when I woke up the next morning. I put on the outfit and threw my hair up in a bun. I woke up Emma and started on my make-up. We only had 2 more days in New York, we had to get up and get on it. When I stepped outside, I could smell the rain in the air, a sure sign of spring.

We stopped at Starbucks again for our morning coffee, then headed off to Rockefeller Center. We went to the observation deck, and saw what had seemed to be the whole city. I felt like I was on top of the world, looking down on the entire city. We took 1,000 more pictures and set off for some more shopping. When we began to tire out from all the walking, we stopped and ate at the Hard Rock Cafe. Emma and I split a steak, then ordered ice-cream.

We spent most of the night wandering around Times Square, watching all the people and the street performers. The buildings looked alive, they looked like they were ordinary people just sitting and watching the world in its mysterious ways.

Emma and I had to go to the hotel to pack for tomorrow, we would be leaving to go back home. I didn't want to leave, Emma didn't either. New York was the best thing ever; it was always alive, always running from one thing to another. I guess that's why they call it the city that never sleeps. If you ever want to get your mind off something, go to New York, your brain will be running 100 miles a minute.

On the bus back home, Emma and I made a pact: One day when we got out of high school, we would go back to New York and live in an apartment together. We would have pit bulls that lived with us, and we would work to pay the rent. I still hold Emma to that pact, and she still holds me to mine. New York, wait for us.

The Russian Federation is the largest country in the world. It occupies about one-seventh of the earth's surface. It covers the eastern part of Europe and the northern part of Asia. Its total area is about 17 million square kilometres. The country is washed by 12 seas and 3 oceans: the Pacific, the Arctic and the Atlantic. In the south Russia borders on China, Mongolia, Korea, Kazakhstan, Georgia and Azerbaijan. In the west it borders on Norway, Finland, the Baltic States, Belorussia and Ukraine. It also has a sea-border with the USA.

There is hardly a country in the world where such a variety of scenery and vegetation can be found. We have steppes in the south, plains and forests in the midland, tundra and taiga in the north, highlands and deserts in the east.

There are two great plains in Russia: the Great Russian Plain and the West Siberian Lowland. There are several mountain chains on the territory of the country: the Urals, the Caucasus, the Altai and others. The largest mountain chain, the Urals, separates Europe from Asia.

There are over two million rivers in Russia. Europe's biggest river, the Volga, flows into the Caspian Sea. The main Siberian rivers — the Ob, the Yenisei and the Lena — flow from the south to the north. The Amur in the Far East flows into Pacific Ocean.

Russia is rich in beautiful lakes. The world's deepest lake (1,600 meters) is a Lake Baikal.

It is much smaller than the Baltic Sea, but there is much more water in it than in the Baltic Sea. The water in the lake is so clear that if you look down you can count the stones on the bottom.

Russia has one-sixth of the world's forests. They are concentrated in the European north of the country, in Siberia and in the Far East.

On the vast territory of the country there are various types of climate, from arctic in the north to subtropical in the south. In the middle of the country the climate is temperate and continental.

Russia is very rich in oil, coal, iron ore, natural gas, copper, nickel and other mineral resources.

Russia is a parliamentary republic. The Head of State is the President. The legislative powers are exercised by the Duma. The capital of Russia is Moscow. It is its largest political, scientific, cultural and industrial centre. It is one of the oldest Russian cities.

The population of Russia is about 150 million people. 83 per cent of the population are Russians. 70 per cent of the population live in cities.

The capital city of the Russian Federation is Moscow. It is one of the largest cities in the world. More than 83,4 million people live in Moscow. Moscow is the cultural, communications, government, industrial, scientific, and transportation centre of Russia. It lies in western Russia, in the European part of the country. The Moscow River, for which the city was named, flows through the city.

Moscow was founded by Prince Yury Dolgoruky in 1147. Moscow emerged as the most powerful Russian city in the late. The princes of Moscow played a leading role in uniting various Russian lands and in conquering non-Russian peoples and territories. Moscow became the capital of the Russian Empire and was the home of Russia's czars until 1712, when the capital was moved to St. Petersburg. Moscow again became the Russian capital in 1918, after the Bolsheviks (later called Communists)-took control of the country. In 1922, Russia and three other republics united to form the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. Moscow was chosen as the Soviet capital.

Moscow is built in the shape of a wheel. This shape can be traced to the city's early history, when rings of fortifications were built to protect it from attack. Today, wide boulevards extend from the city's centre, forming the spokes of the wheel. They cross circular boulevards, which make up the inner and outer rims of the wheel. A major highway circles Moscow. Past the highway lies the Green Belt, a ring of forests and parks covering about 1,800 square kilometres.

The oldest and busiest sections of Moscow lie near the Kremlin, a huge walled fortress at the city's historic centre. Just to the north and east of the Kremlin is the main business, commercial, and administrative district. Encircling this area and the Kremlin are Moscow's main shopping streets and many cultural buildings. Most of the city's new residential and industrial districts lie in the outermost rings.

At the city's heart on the banks of the River Moscow lies the Kremlin, a walled fortress housing all the government buildings. Nearby St. Basil's Cathedral was built in the 16th century to celebrate a military victory; it is now a museum.

Moscow is a large educational and scientific centre. There is a great number of various educational establishments and research institutes here and the oldest one is Moscow University. It was founded by M. Lomonosov in the 18th century and now it bears his name.

The cultural life of the capital is very rich. There are plenty of cinemas, theatres, museums and art exhibitions here. Special exhibitions demonstrating the largest achievements of world and Russian industry, high technology, agriculture and culture are often held in Moscow.

A wonderful collection of world famous pictures by Kramskoy, Polenov, Surikov and other Russian and contemporary artists is being exhibited in the Tretyakov Gallery. The Pushkin Art Museum possesses art works by foreign masters.

In the world famous Bolshoi Theatre one can see the best ballet performances and hear Russian and foreign operas. Moscow is also famous for one of the largest libraries in the world – The Russian State Library where one can find all conveniences for work and study.

At the heart of the city stands the Kremlin. This old fortress was the centre of the Soviet Union's government until that nation was dissolved in 1991. Since then, it has been the centre of the Russian government. Inside its walls, which extend almost 1 1/2 miles (2.4 kilometres), are beautiful cathedrals and palaces, as well as government buildings. Some of the cathedrals date from the 1400's. Many czars are buried in the Cathedral of the Archangel Michael. The Grand Kremlin Palace was built in the early 1800's as an imperial residence. The building later was the meeting place of the Supreme Soviet, the parliament of the Soviet Union. In 1992, Russia's Congress of People's Deputies met in the Grand Kremlin Palace. The Palace of Congresses, built in 1961, is used for cultural performances and government meetings and receptions. From 1961 to 1990, it also housed Soviet Communist Party meetings.

The Kremlin has a long history as a seat of government in Russia. The Kremlin was the centre of czarist rule from the mid-1500's until 1712, when Peter the Great moved the Russian capital to St. Petersburg. Moscow and the Kremlin again became the seat of government in 1918, shortly after the Communists took control of Russia. With the break-up of the Soviet Union in 1991, the Kremlin became the seat of government of an independent Russia.

The Kremlin is a triangular enclosure extending almost 1 1/2 miles (2.4 kilometres) around. Views of the Kremlin can be breathtaking. Especially impressive are its gilded domes, its tapered gate towers, and the contrast between the threatening boundary wall and the richness and intricacy of the interior. The variety of styles and lavish decoration give an impression of powerful magnificence. Today, many Kremlin buildings serve as museums. The Kremlin's historical treasures include paintings, jewels, and crowns worn by Russia's czars.

The first Kremlin on the site was built in 1156. The present Kremlin walls have stood since the late 1400's, when Moscow became the most powerful Russian city. At that time, architects from northern Italy and from throughout Russia were called to work on the Kremlin. Italian architects built the Cathedral of the Assumption (1475-1479), the Granovitaya Palace (1487-1491), the Bell Tower of Ivan the Great (1505-1508), and the Cathedral of the Archangel Michael (1505-1509). The architects blended the Italian Renaissance classical style with more traditional Russian forms, like those used in the Kremlin's Cathedral of the Annunciation (1484-1489).

During the 1600's, the Kremlin's towers and buildings were enlarged and redecorated. The major Kremlin buildings of this period are the Terem Palace (1635-1636) and the Palace of the Patriarchs (1645-1655). In the 1700's and 1800's, construction continued but in the baroque and later neoclassical styles. Notable buildings from this period include the Arsenal (1702-1736), the Menshikov Tower (1705-1707), the Senate (1776-1787), and the Grand Kremlin Palace (1838-1849). Buildings added during the 1900's include the Presidium (1932-1934) and the Palace of Congresses (1960-1961). The great hall of the Palace of Congresses houses government meetings and performances of ballets and operas.

My native city Yelets

I was born in Yelets and have lived all my life here. That is why I can call it my native city.

Yelets has a population of more than 100,000 people, the second only to Lipetsk in the region. It is located on the banks of the Bystraya Sosna river and can be divided into two main parts.

Yelets has got an ancient history. According to the Nikon chronicle, the first mention dates back to the year of 1146. It appeared on the borders of the Russian lands as a fortress. Since that time Yelets repeatedly stood on the way of numerous invaders: from Polovtsians and Tatar-Mongols to the Nazi Germany. Many times the town was destroyed, many of its inhabitants fell in battles or got captured, but its strategic importance as a frontier stronghold made it rise from the ashes and defend the homeland over again.

Yelets is on the list of the cities that possess the historical heritage of federal and international importance. It is famous not only for separate buildings and ensembles but also for the layout of the city on the whole, as a monument to urban planning of the 18th-19th centuries. The inimitable colour of the city is made by 17 churches (13 of them conduct services), two cloisters; almost every second building in the centre is a monument of history and culture. The main landmark and pride of the city of Yelets is the magnificent Ascension (Voznesensky) Cathedral designed by the celebrated Academician of Architecture K. Ton. It is the fourth highest church in Russia.

Yelets is famous for its crafts, such as lace-making that brought special glory to the city. It is one of few places in Russia that have a felt boot factory where felt boots are made in the old way – by hand, using only sheep's wool and water. Yelets piano accordion is also well-known.

Our famous fellow citizens made a mark on history. They are the preacher Saint Innokentiy of Kherson, the Nobel Laureate in Literature I.A. Bunin, the writer M.M. Prishvin, the eminent philosopher V.V. Rozanov, the outstanding Soviet composer T.N. Khrennikov, the graphic artist N.N. Zhukov, the original landscape painter V.S. Sorokin, the prominent statesman N.A. Semashko and many others. You can visit the museums devoted to Bunin, Khrennikov and Zhukov, the local history museum, the picture gallery, the museum of folk trades and crafts.

There is also a cinema, theatre, several hotels, some restaurants and numerous cafes in our city. We have a classical university, which is the only one in the region. The residents of Yelets know the history and try to keep the traditions, holding cultural festivals like "Russkaya Zakvaska" and "Antonovskiye Yablaki".

As for me, I like the narrow streets and cosy atmosphere of Yelets and I am proud of my native city.
